

Liberty Tool Company Sale Details
November 17, 2016

$600,000 Liberty Tool Co. for sale by owner (Skip Brack)
Building and contents. No owner financing. No dickering.

$800,000 includes Bank's Garage and contents

$325,000 for Captain Tinkham's Emporium in Searsport, which is listed with Bob at Berkshire Hathaway Realty

I turned 72 this year, so I thought I'd try to locate a buyer for the Liberty Tool Company while I am still an active tool picker. The sale price is for the building and the contents as well as a quantity of inventory items yet to be delivered. Purchase includes extensive training in the art of tool picking, cleaning, and research. New workshops in the Bank's Garage shop across the street from Liberty Tool Co. will be available for use at a very reasonable hourly price for tool cleaning and repair. The Bank's Garage can also be included in the purchase of the Liberty Tool Co. for an additional $200,000. Note that we have our store in Searsport listed with Berkshire Hathaway Realty for $325,000, including a great inventory of tools and antiques. All our locations have had a very busy year, with large amounts of antique tools and planes arriving in the month of October. Many of these are now included in the Liberty Tool Co. inventory, which is much larger than it was when we first posted this notice in June.

It would be helpful if a prospective buyer has an interest in maritime and industrial history in general, and the history of hand tools in particular. Please note that the Davistown Museum is located across the street and has a four room library with a comprehensive collection of books pertaining to the history, identification, and value of hand tools of every description. The museum and our eStore is located in the Prescott Block circa 1892, and is not for sale.

I will begin my 46th year of tool picking in coastal New England, and hope to continue buying collections and estate lots indefinitely, though perhaps with less incoming non-tool inventory. Discounts on incoming tool inventory at the Hulls Cove Tool Barn, which is also not for sale, and our Searsport store are available, and range from 20 to 40% except for a few types of woodworking tools, such as spoke shaves, drawknives, and chisels, which we hoard for our regular customers that visit Mount Desert Island.
